2023-04-18 Janet L. Montgomery Inspired by the word of God and her own hardships and joys, Janet Montgomery shares poems designed to speak life and healing to the soul, especially for those suffering through dark times. In a collection of inspirational verse and other writings, Janet reflects on a variety of personal experiences and life events from the perspective of a worshipper while exploring depression, forgiveness, prayer, worship, and the grave. She also leads others on a personal journey through her own testimonies as she shares insight into her experiences as the mother of a severely handicapped child, and how following God has helped her navigate through life and overcome her challenges. Poems, Prayers, and Praise offers inspirational writings anointed by God to encourage believers that in both good times and bad, He always has the answer.

2018-03-08 Belle Lee What you are about to read is a look into my thirteen years as a previous victim of abuse. While I could write many stories on events that occurred during my time with Daniel, I did not want to bring light to all the traumatic events that occurred. I instead allowed God to lead me on which incidents to share with you in this book. For protective reasons, names of people and places have been changed. You see, although I had many daily things happen to me, I overcame. I look back at the most difficult moments in those years, and I can clearly see where God was in those circumstances. His word truthfully states that in this life, we will have trials. But take heart, he has overcome! Nowhere does it say we will have trials and go through them alone, so figure it out. He was there all along, and it is because of his mercy and grace, because of the overwhelming love that Jesus has for us that I am here today, alive, stronger than ever, sharing my life as a testimony. It is because of Jesus that I am no longer a victim, but I am now victorious! My hope is that as you read this, you will understand that no one is alone in their lives. We are called to carry one another. And in sharing my life with you, I am praying to be able to carry you out of what may seem like darkness into the beautiful light that is Jesus. My prayer is that as you read the words, God will speak clearly to you, giving you direction, wisdom, clarity, and hope that will overflow from you into others that need it.

2005-02 Jon R. Wood This book features an old man and his promise. It is a remarkable story of inspiration, interpretation, and promise. It goes beyond the universal definition for a promise by explaining how to create an environment for keeping promises, acknowledging that life has its own set of God created promises, and by using a metaphor to help demonstrate the ease of making a promise in contrast to keeping the same. The book cover is a reproduction of a watercolor, named I Promise, painted by John Quanrud. John is a Northwest Artist, and a Signature Member of the National Watercolour Society. Journey to Freedom is a heart-warming reflection on the experience, in the depths of one's soul, of taking God at His word. Yet because the author's words are faithfully grounded in God's Word, they apply to all who desire to live a life filled with promise, purpose and praise. I felt especially drawn to the tenderness of the autobiographical stories set within the context of the poignancy of the author's current situation. The book is a testimony to God's goodness in times of trial and to His faithfulness in turning sorrow to joy. - Kirk E. Farnsworth, Ph.D., author of Wounded Workers and All Churches Great and Small Jon Wood purposefully takes the reader along with him on his journey to discover the wonderful depths of the promises of God. He gently and lovingly moves us from simply knowing Jesus Christ as Savior to finding how wonderful it is to make Him truly Lord of our life. Jon's gentle style reflects the gentleness of his own spirit that is so completely in love with his Lord. - Katie Fortune, author of Discover Your God-Given Gifts In Jon Wood's Journey to Freedom he parts the curtains to give us all glimpses into his travels to wholeness in Christ. Through everyday incidents-common to all of us-we see God's hand working through the mundane to accomplish the divine. - Marge McRae Jon Wood is a 2000 graduate of City University, Bellevue, Washington. In chapter one (Inspiration Taken from the Old Man) he explains what inspired him to write this book. He writes, I finished the majority of the book the same month that my wife was diagnosed with pancreatic cancer. Since the diagnosis, we have experienced so many blessings, in so many well-orchestrated situations, in such a short period of time; I am convinced that we are in the shadow of His wings. I feel writing this book was no coincidence. I believe God used this past year to prepare us for the road ahead. My wish is that this book will serve as a daily reminder for those readers who want to find time to celebrate, reaffirm, or pray about their promises. Jon and Linda live in Kingston, Washington. Their home church is Bayside Community Church.

2016-12-19 N. B. Grant God has a future planned for each one of us. However, we must seek him to lead and guide us toward the life he has planned for us. He wants our lives to be full of love, hope, faith, peace, joy, abundance and prosperity. Yet in order for us to have the life he wants for us we must let go of the things that have us bound. We were not meant to live in fear, depression, anger and unforgiveness, or to live with feelings of rejection and bitterness with no hope for the future. Therefore, we must develop a personal relationship with him in prayer, learn to abide in him and seek him for direction. Release the guilt and condemnation of the past and move forward in faith in order to inherit his promises. This book of prayers will help you to begin to seek God about releasing your past and prepare you to step into the future God has planned for your life.

2014-01-10 Ruth Burgess A resource book for anyone who is planning a funeral. You may be a family member or a friend of someone who has died. You may be planning your own funeral. You may arrange and conduct funerals professionally. Here you will find an abundance of words and ideas for celebrating a life in ways that are personal and honest.

2006 V. Helena In her debut collection of Freedom Exhortations, V. Helena gives a compelling, heartfelt account on the challenges in maintaining a solid relationship with the Lord and using that connection to foster healthy relationships with the people in your life. From dealing with family members, co-workers, and "so-called" friends who insist on wreaking havoc in your life to that love relationship that doesn't seem to be on secure footing, V. Helena discusses how you can overcome those impasses armed with an unyielding and vertical connection with the Father. Using poetry, short stories, prayers, "freedom reflections" and related scriptures as a backdrop, she pens a delightful composition based on over 100 interviews with couples and singles, as well as her own personal experiences. This body of work provides spiritually based solutions to life's challenges with respect to living in singleness, love in the married state, the death of a loved one, "workplace headaches", and child rearing in the 21st century. Singles and couples alike will appreciate this thoughtful body of work and the scripture references that can become part of their daily devotion. Included in this book, is an excerpt from V. Helena's forthcoming novel entitled, Tropical Prayers, to be released in the summer, 2007.

2013-03-27 Leslyn Richard Poems, Praises,

Prayers, Promises presents a Christian poetry tool of evangelism that you can use again and again as a treasured gift of inspiration for finding God's purpose for you. Before the world was made, before all things created were framed, every one of us was equipped with talents. But in order for us to discover just what we were created for, we must consult our Creator. He is the key that unlocks the treasures of talents deep down inside of us all. Our only responsibility is to perfect and use our talents. Poems, Praises, Prayers, Promises is a compilation of three decades of writings in which I share a host of modern-day praises, psalms, and hymns. Each poem is a reflection of my experience while encountering people, places and things. This book was written to evangelize everyone, from the lost to the child of God and the theologian. We all have someone in our lives that we can share something in this book with.
