Tallow Book 1-Karen Ruth Brooks 2008-09-29 "A young girl is rescued by a humble candle maker. When it becomes evident that dark forces are searching for her, she is disguised as a boy, apprenticed, and taught the art of candle-making. Years pass and strange powers start to manifest. She is taught how to distill powers into the candles she creates, making her both attractive and dangerous to those who seek to use her. Leaving the candle-making business, she is plunged into the corrupt world of the nobility and against her will becomes a deadly assassin. She falls in love with a young tallow chandler, whose fate is sealed when he makes an extraordinary sacrifice to protect her. But there are others who find her: to exploit her abilities or the deadly candles she creates, or to kill her. Set in a rich and dramatic world inspired by Renaissance Venice, Tallow is the first book in the trilogy The Candlemaker's Apprentice."--Provided by publisher.

The Candle Maker offers a refreshing glimpse into the journey of faith throughout the entirety of a lifetime. The story of Phillip and his quest to understand how and why there is a candle within his chest is compelling and reads like a parable guiding toward a profound truth. Phillip's remarkable experience, the wide swing of all human emotion, travels the high, joyous peaks as well as the low, desolate valleys of life. The Candle Maker follows Phillip through all the stages of his existence, from the warmth of a nurturing home, to the embrace of a true love, through the snares of those who would tempt to extinguish his inner flame, through great loss and absolute heartache, back again to a life rebuilt and life returned, and ultimately face to face with the Candle Maker, the creator of all light. Don't let the brevity of The Candle Maker mislead you—within this small volume is a story that sings a grand truth that must be experienced by anyone walking the path of light.
